FAMILY-FRIENDLY
RECIPES
KIDS IN THE KITCHEN

Guelph Family
Health Study
By the age of five or six, your kids will form eating, exercise and sleep habits that can last a lifetime. The Guelph Family Health Study is testing ways for kids to learn healthy habits early—habits that can significantly lower your child’s risk for disease, now and in the future.

Parents in the Guelph Family Health Study have expressed an interest in kid-friendly and healthy recipes that they can serve to their families at home. Using crowdsourced funding, the Guelph Family Health Study researchers responded to this request by creating this recipe book.

This collection of recipes was created just for kids! Getting your kids into the kitchen early can help you teach them how to choose healthy foods and is a great way to spend quality time together! Research shows that children who are involved in food preparation are more likely to try new foods. We hope you enjoy!
Teaching children to cook while they are young encourages them to continue this habit throughout life. As a parent, you are your child’s most important role model. Choose healthy foods for yourself and eat together as a family. Here are some ideas adapted from EatRight Ontario for getting your children involved in meal preparation:

Cooking with 2–3 year olds

Very young children like to explore with their senses of sight, touch, smell, hearing and tasting. They also like to do things on their own. An empty pot on the floor with a spoon keeps their hands busy. Try letting your kids:

- Add items to dishes (like chopped vegetables to a casserole)
- Help find ingredients in the fridge or cupboard
- Wash fruits and vegetables in the sink

Cooking with 3–4 year olds

At this age, children may be more interested in talking than eating! Try letting your kids:

- Pour from a small pitcher or measuring cup
- Make a simple sandwich or pizza with prepared ingredients
- Mash sweet potatoes, turnips, carrots or bananas
- Stir ingredients together (like muffins, pancakes or sauces)

Cooking with 4–6 year olds

At this age, some kids may show signs of being a picky eater. While the food they prepare might not make it to their fork, try to be patient knowing that cooking is helping them warm up to the idea of trying new foods. Try letting your kids:

- Cook with a friend for a fun play date
- Set the table for meals
- Grate cheese with supervision

TIPS FOR HEALTHY EATING

Frozen vegetables are just as healthy and delicious as fresh. Try using frozen vegetables, such as corn or squash, to customize your quesadilla. The frozen veggies are frozen and packed at their nutritional peak and are a great option for your budget and your health!
